

We Design AI for Adoption by Realizing the Challenges in Your Business

AI Implementation often focuses on technology and capabilities without fully realizing the constraints and operationalization required to deliver real business value. Neal Analytics challenges that paradigm by putting the business first.

Neal Analytics Can Help

We were founded on the premise that current approaches to AI and analytics can be improved. There is a growing need for crisp, actionable business insight with precise approaches and smaller budgets.

We make data talk by asking the right questions, designing for information agility, and harnessing the right data, tools, and workflow to create tailored, impactful knowledge approaches.

We Create Thoughtful,
Tightly-Scoped Business
Solutions to Fit Your Needs

Our Approach Is Unique

With deep business, consulting, and technology experience, Neal Analytics transcends typical services provided by most consulting firms. Our methodology blends sophisticated techniques in data science and management consulting with the practical needs of business managers to create solutions that work.

We Bring a Holistic Skillset with a Laser Focus on Business Outcomes

By helping you ask the right questions, our business analysts and management consultants diagnose the source of your business pain. Our data scientists apply specialized expertise to answer questions arising from these conversations. Our technologists build efficient processes and tools to squeeze the juice out of new or existing data. The result is a unique and powerful set of data, AI, and business solutions that enable data-driven decision making. If required, we stay with you to ensure the delivery of continuous value.
